DEBORAH W. FRAZER, PhD, is the Director of Behavioral Care at Genesis ElderCare in Philadelphia. ARTHUR E. JONGSMA, Jr., PhD, is the founder and Director of Psychological Consultants, a group private practice in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He is the coauthor of The Complete Psychotherapy Treatment Planner.

I found this treatment planner to be even better than Jongsma's other planners. I've used them for treating the Intellectually Disabled population and this is particularly effective. I found it to be so because it did not limit the suggestions to the broadest and most common diagnoses, but rather to include behaviors that are typically found among elderly suffering dementia and/or related diagnoses. I would recommend it to anyone treating this ever-increasing population and in particular, those in institutions. I am serving individuals in nursing homes as well as assisted care facilities and it is very useful.

as expected

Im a psychotherapist in VA. I recently started working with an organization that serves many elderly patients and this treatment planner guide has been a blessing.

Helpful but not all inclusive.

Poorly written, appears to be a copy of information from previous books. Not as comprehensive as it could have been to help the elderly in a therapeutic setting. Truly disappointed with the content!

This is very helpful. I highly recommend it for therapists. It is concise and to the point. I downloaded the Kindle version so that I could keep it with me as I travel.

i really liked this book. its easy to use

EXCELLENT, complete resource for treatment plans for working with seniors! You'll never need another resource! :)
